Part II

Application Development Security

Part II describes how to manage application development security.

- Managing Security for Application Developers
  A security policy for application developers should encompass areas such as password management and securing external procedures and application privileges.